

Homework 5 Report

This program doesn't work the way I wanted to. It will compile without any problems. But that is mostly it. I never finished the most of the options that were needed to be included.

The only thing that works correctly is where you add new books and members. The rest of it was never completed. The function to save a file kind of works. It will save the file but I made it call the add functions so then even if you pick those options before wanting to save. It will call those functions again and make you enter the names again. The rest of the functions were never completed so is you pick them, it will just make the menu pop back up over and over again.
